CHAIR'S REPORT

Tevet/Shevat 5778
January/February 2018

I do hope you are all keeping well?

We had a fantastic turn out for the Chanukah service which was taken by Sarita. She did a splendid service as ever and, believe it or not, all the food went afterwards (what a surprise).

Around 80 members from both Shuls attended the talk by Robin Moss on the 100th Anniversary of the signing of the Balfour Agreement. For all those members who attended, I think we can agree his presentation and knowledge were truly amazing. Following the talk, Michael Westerman presented Robin with a certificate acknowledging that trees will be planted in Israel as thanks.

Henry Goldstone and I had the honour to light a candle at the AJEX remembrance service held at Pryme Street. A big thank you to all our members who attended this year.

I'm pleased to report that Aimi has now sent off the total donations for this year's High Holy Days Appeal to the Movement for Reform Judaism (MRJ). Again, a big thank you for all your kind donations.

A splendid Chanukah party took place on Sunday 17 December at Pryme Street. The fish and chips and mushy peas went down really well too. Around 80 people were in attendance and it was truly enjoyable afternoon.

Sadly, Janette Dubb passed away a few weeks ago. She will be greatly missed by all of us. We wish Janette's family "a long life".

I hope you will all be able to attend the film afternoon at Ne've Shalom on Sunday 21 January at 2.30pm. The event is free of charge and open to all. The film we are showing is "The Zoo Keeper's Wife". Cinema style snacks will be on offer as well.

In memory of Geoff Annis, Lesley has had a Torah Mantel embroidered with Geoff's name. We all still miss Geoff, his services and all he did for our Shul.

Hull Jewish Community Care (HJCC) have kindly purchased a free standing hot water boiler for the Shul. The boiler is on loan from HJCC which will allow us make tea and coffee without carrying water across the Shul kitchen, thus risking accidents. The boiler will be used for Friendly Circle events and for Services. I aim to have it installed within the next few weeks.

Finally, please don't forget to come to our Friday Night services at 7.00pm and Shabbat Morning Services at 10.30am on the first Saturday of each month.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

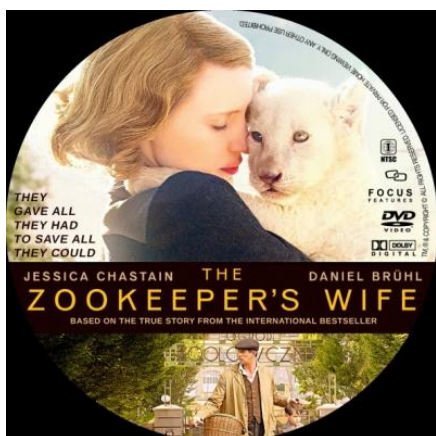

HULL JEWISH COMMUNITY CARE (HJCC)

Following the success of the recent social event, HJCC have great pleasure in inviting the community to another of their Friendly Circle afternoon teas on Thursday 18 January 2018 at 2.00pm. The event is taking place at the Ne've Shalom Synagogue and there will be entertainment and refreshments as usual, so put the date in your diary. If you have any friends who may not see this announcement, please would you keep them informed, as it really will be a shame for them to miss out.

For further details or to request a lift to this events, please contact Harold Flasher, Chairman of HJCC, on (01482) 655 537 or 07766 416 605, (or indeed, any member of the committee).

FREE FILM SHOW FOR ALL

Following the success of our last free film show, there will be a showing of the film "The Zoo Keeper's Wife" in the Shul hall at the Ne've Shalom Synagogue.

The time is 1939 and the place is Poland, homeland of Antonina Zabinski and her husband, Dr. Jan Zabinski. The Warsaw Zoo flourishes under Jan's stewardship and Antonina's care. When their country is invaded by the Nazis, Jan and Antonina are forced to report to the Reich's newly appointed chief zoologist, Lutz Heck. The Zabinskis covertly begin working with the Resistance and put into action plans to save the lives of hundreds from what has become the Warsaw Ghetto. If you wish to view the 'trailer', it can be found at <https://youtu.be/rJNFeHHGGN4>

The event is taking place on Sunday 21 January 2018 at 2.30pm and is free to anyone wishing to attend. Free soft drinks and popcorn will be provided. If you wish to attend, please ring (01482) 658312 with your name and the number of people in your 'party'.

This is a communal event for all and one not to missed.

RECEIVING THE SHOFAR SHALOM ELECTRONICALLY

In these current environmentally friendly times, we are offering all members the opportunity the receive the Shofar Shalom directly to them by e-mail. If you do wish to receive your Shofar Shalom electronically, please contact Ian Sugarman on ian@isa.karoo.co.uk who will add you to the electronic mailing list.

FORTHCOMING EVENTS

TU B'SHEVAT SEDER

Tu B'Shevat, the New Year for Trees, falls on the 15th of Shevat. Jewish tradition marks the 15th of Shevat as the day when the sap in the trees begins to rise, signalling the earth's awakening from its winter slumber, and heralding the beginning of Spring. This mini-holiday is of major importance to our appreciation of Nature and our relationship to it.

To celebrate this festival, there will be a Tu B'Shevat Seder held on Tuesday evening 30 January 2018 starting at 7.00pm at which we will drink wine, eat fruit and sing songs. Everyone is welcome to attend and join in.

OPEN FRIDAY NIGHT SERVICE

Following the huge success of the previous Open Friday Night Service, the next one will take place on Friday 23 February 2018 starting at 7.00pm. What makes this Service different from the normal Friday Night service is the running commentary from those leading the Service explaining the nature of the prayers being recited, their background, origin and the traditional rituals being observed.

After the Service, and following the Brachot over the wine and bread, there will be the Kiddush with a wide range of "Jewish-style" foods. There also will be opportunity to look around the Synagogue, talk to those members present and examine the Ark, Scrolls and other artefacts. Please feel free to invite guests, both Jewish and non-Jewish to this interesting event, but please contact Audrey on (01482) 563835 with numbers to enable sufficient catering.

SYNAGOGUE COUNCIL MEETING

15 December 2017

Present - Andy Harbert (Chair), Joanne Kearsley (Secretary), Aimi Sugarman (Treasurer), Phil O'Driscoll, Audrey Sugarman, Henry Goldstone, Malcolm Rosenberg, Jim Lightowler and Elaine Winetroube.

Business

In response to Elaine's query regarding the late Warren Winetroube's donation, the Chair explained that it was the Shul's intention to purchase silverware for the Torah Scrolls. These would be dedicated in his memory at some point in the future.

The Chair reported that seventy people, both Jewish and non-Jewish, had attended the Balfour Declaration presentation given by Robin Moss of UJIA on 16 November 2017, which had been held in the Shul hall. The event was enjoyed by everyone there. He also reported the sad loss of Janette Dubb after a long illness. Janette's funeral, which had been held at the Haltemprice Crematorium, had been extremely well-attended. One of the Torah mantels had been beautifully embroidered in memory of the late Geoff Annis. Finally, he reported that Peter Altoft had now stepped down from the service rota, but was still involved in school visits.

The Secretary reported, that following her correspondence to 'The Watchman' regarding Michael Bott's inaccurate, inappropriate and possibly inflammatory comments, she had received an e-mail from him explaining his reasons for his comments. She had responded to him by e-mail and would be posting copies of all of the e-mails relating to this matter, received and sent, on the Shul notice board.

The Treasurer reported that the Shul's finances continued to be healthy and all contributions for the High Holy Days Appeal for the Leo Baeck College had now been collected and a cheque sent from the Shul to the Movement for Reform Judaism. The Council was informed that Christine Joseph-Jay was now under the guidance of Rabbi Debbie Young-Summers who would carry out her final interview. Gill Drummond was awaiting her final interview from Rabbi Danny Rich. Both hoped to be interviewed by the Be'it Din in early 2018.

The Council agreed to the naming of an "Ian Sugarman Classroom" in gratitude for all his selfless commitment to the Shul over many years.

The Chair reported that there would be a Chanukah party at the Pryme Street Shul on Sunday 17 December 2017 at 1.30pm. A defibrillator training event would be held at the Pryme Street Shul on Sunday 14 January at 10.15am. Another film show has been arranged for Sunday 21 January 2018 at 2.30pm. The film to be shown will be "The Zoo Keeper's Wife". The next Friday Night Open Service has been planned for 23 February 2018. A discussion on 'Combating Loneliness' is due to be held at the West London Synagogue on 22 March 2018 and the RSY sleepover will be held at Ne've Shalom on 23-24th March 2018.

The Chair agreed to arrange an in-house training event covering the 'Use of a defibrillator' and 'Basic life support skills'. The event would take place in early 2018. The new water boiler for the kitchen, which had been kindly donated by Hull Jewish Community Care, was ready to be installed.

Date of next Council meeting – Friday 19 January 2018

JNF GREEN SUNDAY 2018

Hopefully, everyone in the Community, will receive a personal letter, mailed from London or perhaps a telephone call, also from London, asking for your support once again.

JNF hopes that as in the past, you will respond as generously as you can. Green Sunday gives everyone, across the Community, the opportunity to support the Hull Jewish Community Grove. So, if you would like to be represented in Hull's own project, please make sure you say your donation this year, is for the Hull Jewish Community Grove. Green Sunday gives the Community the chance to complete the project, in time for the Chief Rabbi's visit in April.

The JNF should be given credit for its magnificent effort supporting many varied Projects, from planting trees to reservoirs, to supporting centres for disabled people, such as Aleh Negev and playgrounds such as the one at Sderot, which Hull supported so splendidly. Projects, benefiting Jew and Arab alike.

JNF looks forward to your generous support. Should you like to be associated with the Hull Jewish Community Grove, in any particular way, please ring Michael on 07590 123 270.

WHAT IS JANUARY WITHOUT TU B'SHEVAT?

This article, written by Ted Roberts, a nationally syndicated American commentator and Jewish humorist, was first published in the January 2002 edition of the Jewish Magazine.

Tu B'Shevat, Tu B'Shevat
You ain't in the Chumash
Or the Tanach
But I like you a lot
Tu B'Shevat, Tu B'Shevat.

January is not a Jewish month. The only thing Jewish about January is maybe Tu B'Shevat - a minor league event compared to say - Awesome Yom Kippur. Tu B'Shevat is a holiday like an onion slice is an entree at your Shabbat supper. I don't even know how Tubee (as my good friend, Herb, calls it) made holiday status.

The other day after services I asked my Rabbi. "Rabbi," I said, "why do we observe Tu B'Shevat?"

"We do?" he declared.

"Sure, Rabbi, Tu B'Shevat is usually late January/early February, you know."

"Oh yeah," he said. "Uh, Tubee what? How do you spell it?"

Our difficulty proved to be a simple communication problem. I was working on a large mouthful of lox and bagel and he simply couldn't understand me. That's what he said. Once I described it with a mouth dedicated to speech and cleared of lox and bagel he knew all about it. It's the fifteenth day of Shevat and it's sort of a celebration of trees. A New Year celebration for trees, as it's described in the Jewish encyclopaedia.

And even though it doesn't rank up there with Rosh Hashanah or Chanukah or even your nephew, Danny's, Barmitzvah, I'm sort of fond of Tu B'Shevat. There's not a lot of rules - there's not even the obligatory food item. It's a mix and match holiday. You like bean and barley soup? Have a bowl for breakfast on the morning of Tube. You like to dip a nice slice of buttered rye in your soup? Fine. Anything goes on Tube.

Ceremonially, tree planting is the traditional thing to do. The kids love it. In fact, you can begin your Tube ceremony in October by collecting acorns.

"Why are we putting acorns in that bag?" says little Ezra, my grandson.

"I'm getting ready for Tu B'Shevat."

Here, Ezra does a great imitation of my rabbi. "Tube what?" This is your cue to give him the standard explanation, plus a treatise on the wonders of the Creator's universe - how a 5-gram acorn will turn into a 50-ton Oak with the blessings of rain and earth and time.

Then tell him you're gathering these seeds to plant on the big day in late January. And when it rolls around, you and Ezra, armed with a hand digger, find a sunny spot in the backyard and plant your acorns. Remember that nature extravagantly provides the mama Salmon with 100,000 eggs so she'll have five or six kids to gladden her old age. It's the same with oak trees. So, plant a bunch of acorns. Maybe two or three will sprout in Spring.

If you've properly educated Ezra, he'll sit by the den window and watch for the seedlings like poverty-stricken writers wait for the mailman - with the cheque from the New Yorker.

Then one day in Spring, when you least expect it, a few green shoots will come up to tentatively explore their new world. Go get Ezra. I promise you his eyes will pop wider than the time you uncrated his new video game.

After a little watering and weeding, you and him go and have a bowl of bean and barley soup. It's all a part of Tu B'Shevat. Almost anything goes.

FUNNILY ENOUGH...

A group of elderly Jewish men meet every Wednesday in Brent Cross for a coffee and a chat. They drink their coffee and then sit for hours discussing the world situation. Usually, their discussion is very negative.

One day, Moshe surprises his friends by announcing, loud and clear, "You know what? I've now become an optimist."

Everyone is totally shocked and all conversation dries up. But then Sam notices something isn't quite right and he says to Moshe, "Hold on a minute, if you're an optimist, why are you looking so worried?"

Moshe replies, "Do you think it's easy being an optimist?"
(Thanks to Jackie Lukes)

Morris asks his wife, "Where shall we go to celebrate our anniversary, darling?"
Sarah replies, "How about somewhere I've never been."

So Morris says, "Okay, so how about the kitchen?"

A FEAST OF IDEAS

This year's national Limmud Festival 2017 took place in Birmingham between 24 to 28 December. The event attracted 2,500 participants from 23 countries and, on offer, there were over 1,000 sessions of diverse educational topics and discussions. Our Roving Reporter, Jackie Lukes, was there and we thank her for the following report.

What better to do in 'Crimbo Limbo', the week of torment for shopaholics and news addicts between Christmas and new year's eve, than take a magic carpet trip through centuries to exotic enthralling distant lands?

With snow outside and 'all you can eat' inside, Limmud has been a week of 'Betwixtmas Bliss' in Birmingham.

For a week I've been absorbed in Geonic era 8th/9th to 11th Century cross-currents of ideas, customs and practice, a cross-fertilization and mutual exchange of laws and patterns of life between the Jewish and Muslim worlds of the time in Babylonia and beyond. Prof. Gideon Libson and others have been uncovering these fascinating mutual and reciprocal influences from ancient Egyptian and Arabic texts and comparative analysis of the laws in them.

Neither side, Jewish or Muslim, seems to have been as rigidly unchanging as we thought, though it takes ingenuity to show this as both sides declared they were rigidly impervious to change. The same sort of Jewish/Muslim comparative analysis with chapter and verse filled more sessions during the week both on earlier times and later, especially in 12th and 13th century Spain with Maimonides and Crescas and their different, really opposite interpretations of the parable of the castle, uncovered by Dr. Zev Warren Harvey. Everything was, and still is, a matter for debate and argument, which adds to the enjoyment. Imagine conversations with Maimonides, Rabbi Judah Halevi, Ibn ben Pakuda, Ghazzali - these medieval people were there!

Swirling through each day have been seminars and talks sweeping us back like a tidal wave to the first two centuries of the current era, the time of the second Temple's destruction in the year 70CE and the Roman empire, with ferments of debate among the sages and between them and all sorts of rebellious and new groups and schools of thought.

For example, Dr. Yaffa Epstein ran daily paired-learning sessions on "Rabbinic Rebels and Rebellious Rabbis: Understanding Authority in the Talmud"; Mordechai Zeller gave us "Overcoming moral dissonance through Midrashic interpretation: the disturbing case of the captive woman" (about a slavery law that Ian Sugarman did a workshop on).

Dr. Zeller also illuminated the mid-day of Yom Kippur with "The Secret Journey of the High Priest: Narnia and the Hekhalot"; and Dr. Yarden Raber offered "Others and Otherness in Rabbinic Literature: Was Idolatry a Source of Ritual Defilement?" a powerful case which he skilfully related to the current day. Dr. Chaim Hames with texts from the apocrypha and new and old testaments offered a profound series of insights in "Why did Jesus and Rabbi Akiva have to meet Moses?"

Sessions on "Holy War - the Jewish view" were as learned and alarming as those on the Muslim view of it. We weren't spared "Luther and the Jews" and plenty of others on anti-Semitism then and now but Dr. Raphael Zarum stretched minds marvellously and constructively with "Confucius, Ezra and Socrates - how to rebuild": a star performance like his others.

I'm only mentioning a few as it was in for a penny, in for a pound - I went to sessions every minute of every day, and some discussions into the night. With some 2,500 participants from 23 countries and over 1,000 sessions, it was virtually 24/7, round the clock.

This year it's a festival, not just a conference as music, arts and 'mind and body' sessions wove their way through the academic strands. You think you've planned until a Sephardi melody (Saffron and Sapphire the singers) reaches your ears or something unexpected pops up (like 'Overeaters Anonymous') - 'Man plans and God laughs!' It was like the equally wonderful 'World Transformed' conference in Brighton this autumn. There, 'crafternoons' lightened the weighty sessions, e.g. a real clay pottery class; here, 'crafternoons' included one on different recipes for hummus, making it not just talking about it.

What about the Limmud food? There was a Grab and Go sandwich tent out in the snow (welcome fresh air) and a fabulous queue for sit-down dining-room meals which produced interesting conversations and new friends. 'You have to be in the Lim-mood' to get the most out of everything, especially the queues.

What about jokes for Ian? Mostly it was puns and wordplay e.g. "Bored of Deputies" (title of session by its senior vice-president) and many wandering/wondering Jews. I liked Dr. Zarum's joke:

What's the best way of getting a free meal from a Rabbi? Say "I'm having doubts!" After he told this, a Rabbi said to him: "I'm thinking of going to the Pardes Institute for an interesting-looking course but it's Orthodox and I'm Reform, would I get in?" Rabbi Zarum: "Why don't you ask them?" The other replied: "I can't, I'm having certainties!"

VISITING THE SICK - BIKKUR CHOLIM

If any members of the Synagogue are aware of Jewish patients admitted to either the Hull Royal Infirmary or Castle Hill Hospital, could they please contact Ian Sugarman, the Jewish Lay Chaplain, on (01482) 835864 who can assist them with the provision of kosher food, spiritual guidance and visiting.

For those members who are poorly and recovering at home, Audrey is still available to visit, whether it's just for a cup of tea or a chat or to provide some support. If you are interested in receiving a visit, please give Audrey a call on (01482) 563835. All calls to both Ian and Audrey will be treated in confidence.

Traditionally, Jewish Yahrzeits are remembered on the Hebrew date, which means that there might be some variation in the English date each year.

If the Hebrew date is observed, it must be remembered that the Yahrzeit starts the evening before.

Memorial prayers for the deceased will be recited during the Friday Night Service for those Yahrzeits which fall during the coming week. If a Yahrzeit falls on a Friday Night, please remember that the prayers will usually be recited during the Friday Night Service the week before.
